Revolutionizing Customer Experience with Next-Level Coverage

TORRANCE, Calif., Dec. 12, 2024 /PRNewswire/ -- CarParts.com, Inc. (NASDAQ: PRTS), a leading eCommerce destination for automotive parts and accessories, is proud to announce its partnership with Extend, a leading modern provider of shipping protection and product protection. This collaboration introduces Extend Shipping and Product Protection for items sold on CarParts.com, empowering customers with unparalleled peace of mind and support for their purchases.

The newly implemented Extend Shipping Protection ensures packages are safeguarded against loss, theft, and damage from the moment they leave a CarParts.com Distribution Center until they arrive in the buyers' hands. Customers can rest easy knowing their orders are protected, with claims resolved quickly and seamlessly through Extend's 24/7 online platform. By ensuring reliable delivery, CarParts.com continues to prioritize customer satisfaction while reinforcing its commitment to offering competitive pricing on high-quality products for its customers.

In addition to protecting shipments, CarParts.com has introduced Extend Product Protection, offering extended warranty coverage for parts available on the site. Customers can supplement the standard manufacturer warranty with additional coverage for one, two, or three years, ensuring long-term confidence in their purchases. This added assurance has already gained popularity, with over 6,000 customers opting in since its launch.
