Telkonet Extends Support of ZigBee Standard Through ZigBee Alliance Membership

Support of Industry Standards Further Strengthens Telkonet's Technology Leadership

MILWAUKEE, WI -- (MARKET WIRE) -- 06/01/11 -- Telkonet, Inc (OTCQB: TKOI), the developer of the revolutionary EcoSmart energy management platform incorporating its patented Recovery Time™ technology, is today announcing its support of the ZigBee protocol for energy management through its membership and support as a Participant in the ZigBee Alliance. Telkonet has continued to innovate energy management technology through its release of the EcoSmart Suite of products and joins a distinguished group of companies in supporting the ZigBee standard. The ZigBee Alliance has attracted some of the most innovative and well-known organizations in the world. Together they are collaborating to improve the way we live and work by developing smart and easy-to-use ZigBee standards that help consumers gain more control over their world.

Telkonet's recent release of the revolutionary EcoSmart Suite has raised the bar in ZigBee-networked energy management technology. Having demonstrated success with hundreds of thousands of rooms installed to date, Telkonet's patented Recovery Time™ technology not only maximizes customer savings but also increases product life and improves guest comfort. Through the integration of ZigBee mesh networking technology, Telkonet has increased the level of efficiency and leveraged its cloud-based service offering to gain competitive advantage in a newly emerging market. Continued expansion of this platform has extended Telkonet's energy efficiency expertise beyond the commercial markets and into the Smart-Grid fueled Home Area Network (HAN) space.

"We've recognized a substantial need in the market for solutions beyond energy display and Telkonet's demonstrated leadership in commercial energy management offers significant benefits to these customers," states Jeff Sobieski, Telkonet's Chief Operating Officer. "Our introduction of the cloud-based EcoCentral management platform for our EcoSmart suite of products leverages the power of ZigBee mesh networking to make real-time consumption management and Utility-base demand-response programs available to anyone."

Telkonet has joined the ZigBee Alliance as a Participant to work with Alliance committees, work/task groups and other members in the discussion and creation of ZigBee standards and specifications. Early access to all ZigBee standards and partnership with other Alliance members provides for greater technology integration and richer innovation.
