15 Consecutive Years of EPA Recognition

CBRE recognized with 2022 ENERGY STAR Partner of the Year Sustained Excellence Award

DALLAS--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has recognized CBRE with a 2022 ENERGY STAR® Partner of the Year Sustained Excellence Award for continued leadership and superior contributions to ENERGY STAR. This marks the 15th consecutive year CBRE has earned ENERGY STAR's Partner of the Year Award.

The Sustained Excellence award is the highest honor bestowed by the EPA for its ENERGY STAR program. Recipients are part of a distinguished group that have made a long-term commitment to fighting climate change and protecting public health through energy efficiency.

With buildings responsible for 40% of carbon emissions globally and its 7.1 billion square feet of managed property, CBRE has an outsized opportunity to help reduce greenhouse gas emissions.

“Continued recognition from the EPA underscores our success at creating real estate solutions that help businesses and people thrive,” said Tim Dismond, CBRE’s Chief Responsibility Officer.

ENERGY STAR has been the operational framework for advancing energy efficiency in CBRE’s managed portfolio since the company developed its environmental sustainability program in 2006. In 2021, CBRE registered and benchmarked 5,941 buildings, representing more than 346.9 million square feet.

“We know it’s going to take all of us working together to tackle the climate crisis, and the 2022 ENERGY STAR award-winning partners are demonstrating what it takes to build a more sustainable future,” said EPA Administrator Michael S. Regan. “These companies are showing once again that taking action in support of a clean energy economy can be good not only for the environment, but also for business and customers.”

Earlier this year, CBRE was ranked #11 on the Barron's list of the 100 Most Sustainable Companies in the U.S.
