CEMTREX SUBSIDIARY, INVOCON, SELECTED FOR U.S. NAVY SBIR PHASE I CONTRACT IN NAVAL MINE WARFARE

Hauppauge, NY, April 07, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- – Cemtrex, Inc. (NASDAQ: CETX, CETXP) today announced that its subsidiary Invocon, Inc. has been selected as an apparently successful offeror for a Phase I Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) contract with the Naval Sea Systems Command (NAVSEA). The award, under topic N254-P02: NAVSEA Open Topic for Modular Mine Warfare Components, recognizes Invocon's technical capabilities in advanced defense electronics and power systems engineering.

SBIR Phase I contracts are competitively awarded by the U.S. Department of Defense to small businesses demonstrating innovative solutions to defined military requirements. Invocon was among a limited number of firms selected from a national field of proposers.

"This selection reflects Invocon's growing relevance to U.S. Navy programs and validates the technical depth of our team," said Saagar Govil, CEO of Cemtrex. "We are pleased to expand Invocon's relationship with NAVSEA and look forward to contributing to U.S. naval capability."

Invocon, Inc., acquired by Cemtrex in January 2026, is an aerospace and defense engineering firm based in Conroe, Texas, specializing in electronics, energetics, power systems, and precision instrumentation for defense and commercial launch customers.
