Investor Presentation

November 2026

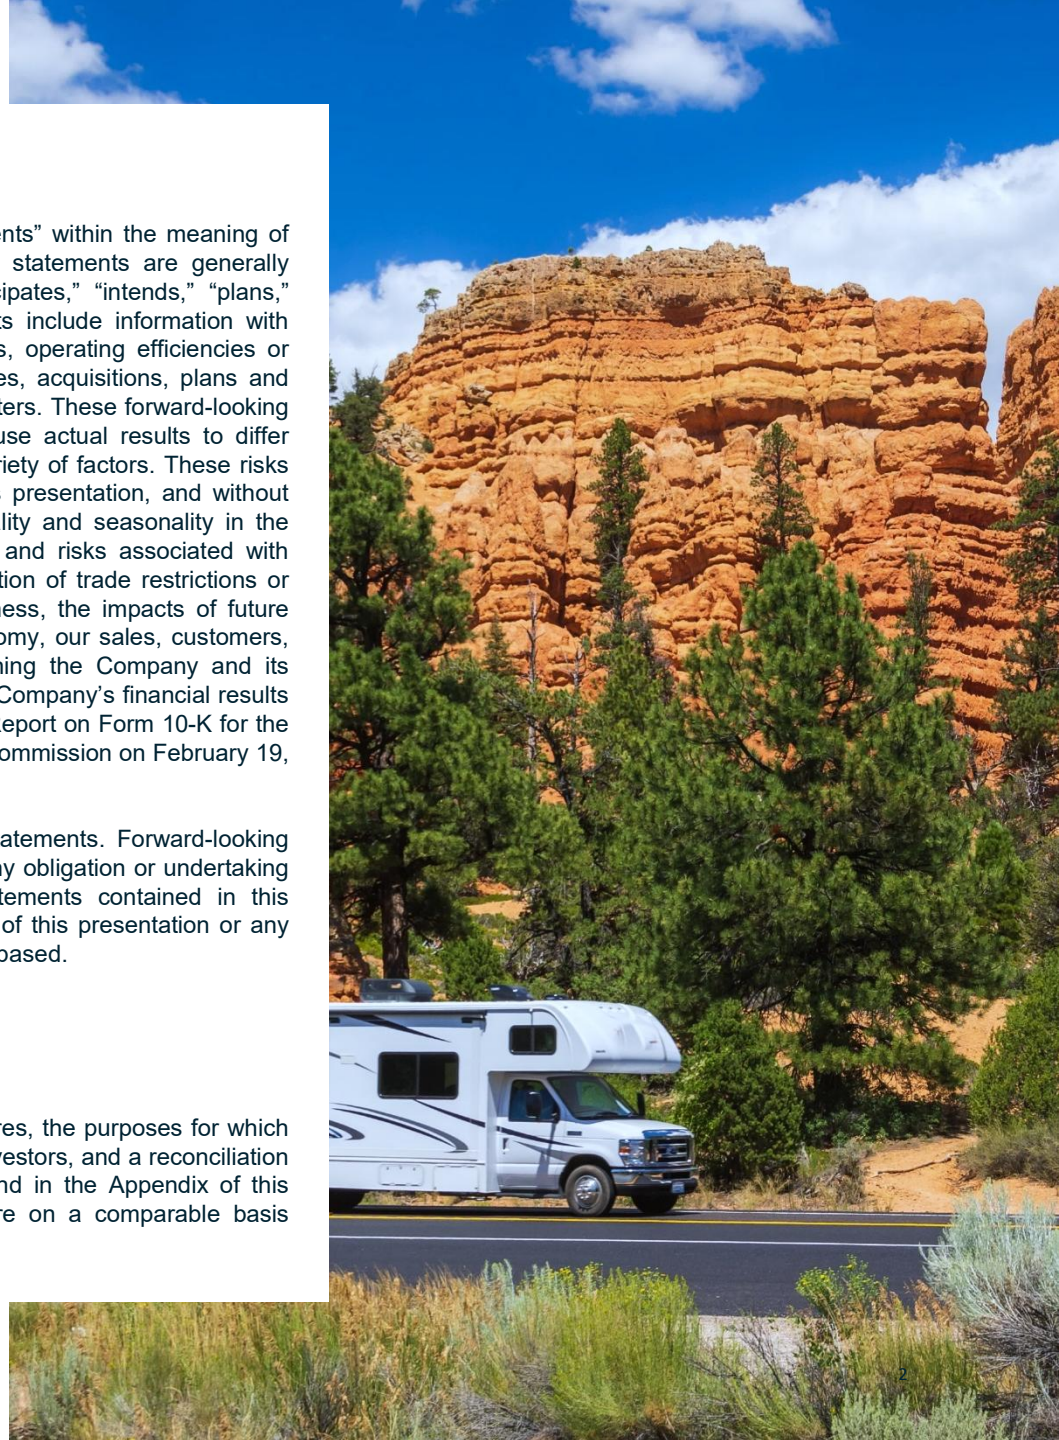

Forward-Looking Statements

This presentation contains statements that are “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements are generally identified by words such as “estimates,” “guidance,” “expects,” “anticipates,” “intends,” “plans,” “believes,” “seeks” and similar expressions. Forward-looking statements include information with respect to financial condition, results of operations, business strategies, operating efficiencies or synergies, competitive position, industry projections, growth opportunities, acquisitions, plans and objectives of management, markets for the common stock and other matters. These forward-looking statements involve a number of risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from either historical or anticipated results depending on a variety of factors. These risks and uncertainties include, in addition to other matters described in this presentation, and without limitation: adverse economic and business conditions, including cyclicality and seasonality in the industries we sell our products and inflationary pressures, challenges and risks associated with importing products, such as the imposition of price caps, or the imposition of trade restrictions or tariffs on any materials or products used in the operation of our business, the impacts of future pandemics, geopolitical tensions or natural disaster on the overall economy, our sales, customers, operations, team members and suppliers. Further information concerning the Company and its business, including risk factors that potentially could materially affect the Company’s financial results is discussed under the caption “Risk Factors” in the Company’s Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2025, filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on February 19, 2026.

We caution readers not to place undue reliance on forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements speak only as of the date they are made, and we disclaim any obligation or undertaking to disseminate any updates or revisions to any forward-looking statements contained in this presentation or to reflect any change in our expectations after the date of this presentation or any change in events, conditions or circumstances on which any statement is based.

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

This presentation contains non-GAAP financial measures. These measures, the purposes for which management uses them, why management believes they are useful to investors, and a reconciliation to the most directly comparable GAAP financial measures can be found in the Appendix of this presentation. All references to profit measures and earnings per share on a comparable basis exclude items that affect comparability.

End Market Landscape

Meaningful retail demand inflection likely depends on consumer confidence and interest rate improvement

RV

- ✓ Affordability constraints and soft consumer confidence continue to weigh on retail demand
- ✓ Formally launched Patrick Printing Solutions to OEMs and media representatives; expect to commission a second printer in 2027, expanding Patrick's suite of decorative interior solutions
- ✓ Continued OEM adoption of composite products (flooring, wall panels, and roofing)

Marine

- ✓ Premium categories have outperformed value-oriented categories, where consumers are more economically sensitive
- ✓ Marine electrical acquisitions have helped fulfill and expand Patrick's full solutions strategy
- ✓ IBEX showcased Patrick's brand-fronted, solutions-oriented model, which was well received by customers

Powersports

- ✓ Utility-focused platforms continue to demonstrate resilient demand, outpacing more discretionary recreational categories
- ✓ OEMs engineering premium comfort, convenience, and audio content into units, representing meaningful opportunity for Patrick
- ✓ Engineering-led partnerships with OEMs supporting a runway for continued growth across current and next-generation platforms

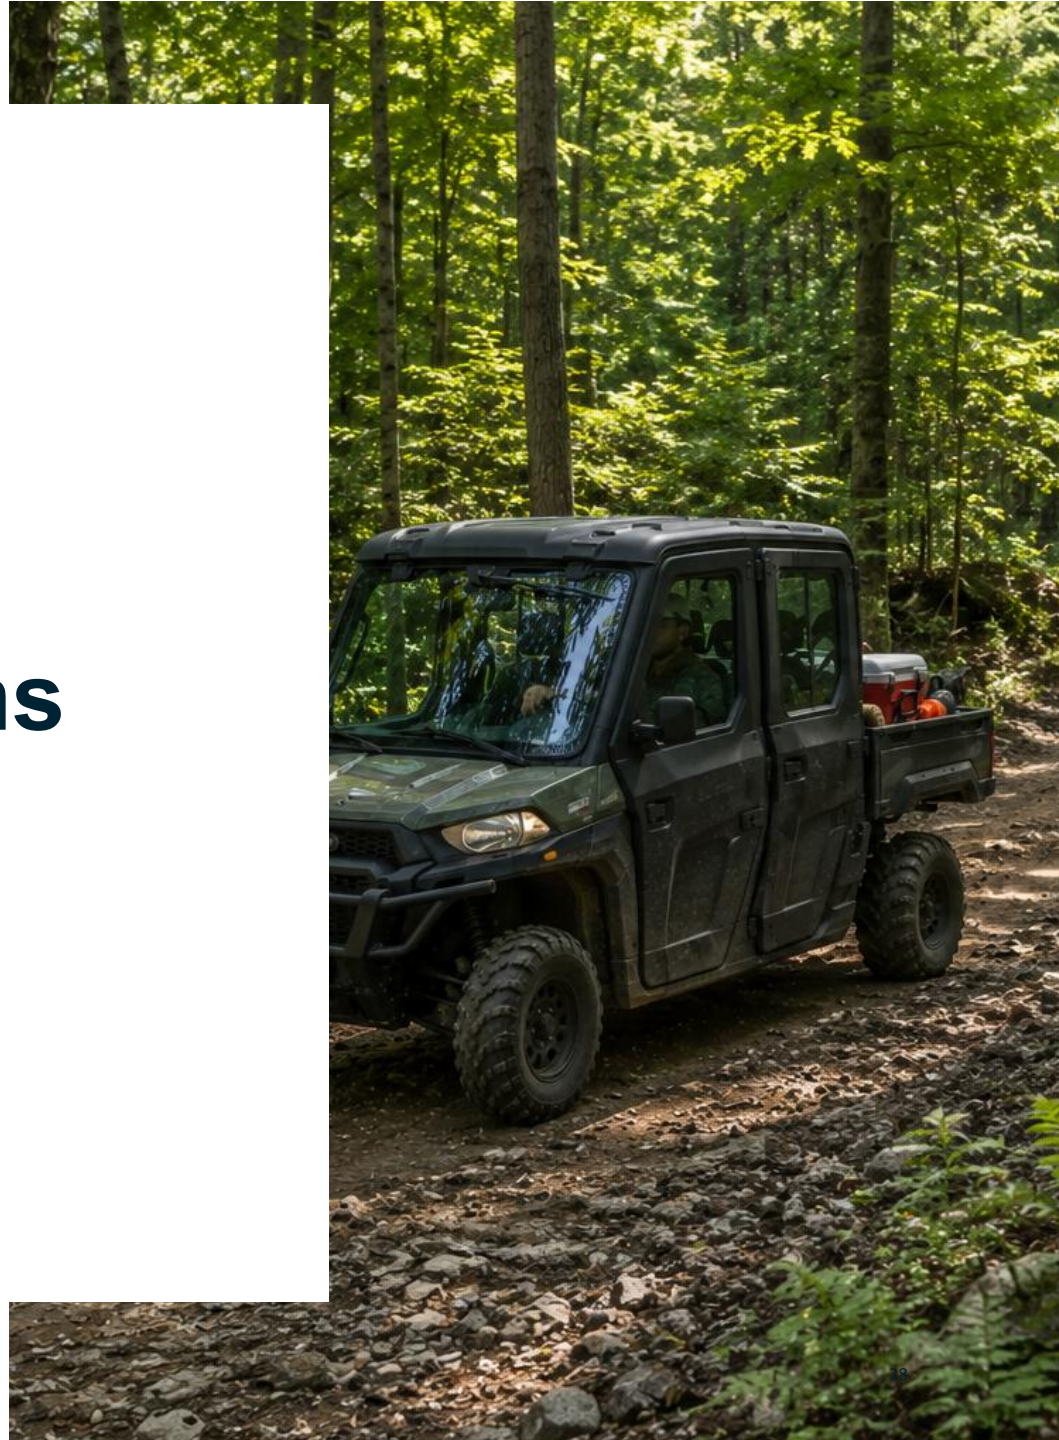

Housing

- ✓ Estimated Q3 2026 MH industry wholesale unit shipments increased 2%, following a period of contraction in the first half of 2026
- ✓ Site-built housing activity remains more subdued, pressured by the same macro factors affecting other large discretionary purchases
- ✓ Industrial side of the business benefitting from sales related to commercial construction

Non-GAAP Reconciliations

PATRICK

PATRICK

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

This presentation contains non-GAAP financial measures. Management believes that, when considered together with reported amounts, these measures are useful to investors and management in understanding our ongoing operations and in the analysis of ongoing operating trends. These measures should be considered in addition to, and not as replacements for, the most comparable GAAP measure.

- Earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization ("EBITDA"), pro forma adjusted EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA margin, adjusted operating margin, adjusted net income, adjusted diluted earnings per common share, and net debt to pro forma adjusted EBITDA are non-GAAP financial measures. In addition to reporting financial results in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States, we provide non-GAAP operating results adjusted for certain items and other one-time items.

- We adjust for the items listed above in all periods presented, unless the impact is clearly immaterial to our financial statements.

- Content per unit metrics are generally calculated using our market sales divided by Company estimates based on third-party measures of industry volume.

- We utilize the adjusted results to review our ongoing operations without the effect of these adjustments and for comparison to budgeted operating results. We believe the adjusted results are useful to investors because they help them compare our results to prior periods and provide important insights into underlying trends in the business and how management oversees our business operations on a day-to-day basis.

- We calculate free cash flow by subtracting cash paid for purchases of property, plant and equipment from net cash provided by operating activities.

- Figures may not sum due to rounding.
