TACOMA, Wash., April 8, 2022 /PRNewswire/ -- In line with the March unemployment figures, job growth is continuing to outpace the number of available workers. According to a new jobs report by staffing giant PeopleReady, 8 million new jobs were posted in the last 30 days. Staggeringly, this included 1 million in just the past seven days. To guide workers to the right job opportunities, here is PeopleReady's list of some of the fastest-growing jobs in the U.S. right now.

"As spring arrives across the country, many industries are experiencing an increase in activity, including hospitality, construction, and events and entertainment. That means additional opportunities for job seekers to earn more income, develop new skills and explore their career options," said Taryn Owen, president and COO, PeopleReady and PeopleScout. "In today's strong job market, we are committed to finding ways to make it easier than ever for job seekers to connect with vital work and for companies to connect with the workforce they need."

According to the PeopleReady analysis of millions of jobs, some of the most in-demand jobs, along with their growth rate in the past 30 days, include:

- Restaurant and short order cooks: 100%
- Food preparation workers: 94%
- Waiters and waitresses: 73%
- Dishwashers: 71%
- Landscapers and groundskeepers: 71%
