"We had a strong second quarter, as expected," said Allen Carlson, Sun's CEO and president. "We met our revenue estimates, came in at the top of our earnings estimates, and have quickly regained our operating leverage. We are very pleased that second quarter results included shipments to new customers in China, North America and Europe. Some of this business represents sizeable ongoing orders. In all cases, it was our efforts during last year's downturn that proved to be the foundation of securing the new business. As evidenced in our results, we are operating at a high rate of efficiency. On-time deliveries are being maintained with a small amount of overtime and, to date, we have engaged in limited hiring in key areas."

Continuing, Carlson stated, "We have the infrastructure and capability in place to meet demand. And as we have proven, we are agile and can flex with the business cycle. Above all else, we will continue to service our existing customers, work diligently to gain new ones and invest in our people and processes to ensure Sun's long-term success."

Outlook

In conclusion, Carlson commented, "Our third quarter estimates reflect normal seasonality in demand levels. We typically have a strong second quarter followed by some softening in the third quarter and 2010 is following that same pattern. We continue to demonstrate strong operating leverage on higher revenues."

Third quarter sales are expected to be $37 million, a 59% increase in revenue compared to the same period last year, and earnings are expected to be $0.32 to $0.34 per share compared to $0.03 per share in the same period of the prior year.

FORWARD-LOOKING INFORMATION Certain oral statements made by management from time to time and certain statements contained herein that are not historical facts are "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and, because such statements involve risks and uncertainties, actual results may differ materially from those expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements, including those in Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations are statements regarding the intent, belief or current expectations, estimates or projections of the Company, its Directors or its Officers about the Company and the industry in which it operates, and assumptions made by management, and include among other items, (i) the Company's strategies regarding growth, including its intention to develop new products; (ii) the Company's financing plans; (iii) trends affecting the Company's financial condition or results of operations; (iv) the Company's ability to continue to control costs and to meet its liquidity and other financing needs; (v) the declaration and payment of dividends; and (vi) the Company's ability to respond to changes in customer demand domestically and internationally, including as a result of standardization. Although the Company believes that its expectations are based on reasonable assumptions, it can give no assurance that the anticipated results will occur.

Important factors that could cause the actual results to differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements include, among other items, (i) the economic cyclicality of the capital goods industry in general and the hydraulic valve and manifold industry in particular, which directly affect customer orders, lead times and sales volume; (ii) conditions in the capital markets, including the interest rate environment and the availability of capital; (iii) changes in the competitive marketplace that could affect the Company's revenue and/or cost bases, such as increased competition, lack of qualified engineering, marketing, management or other personnel, and increased labor and raw materials costs; (iv) changes in technology or customer requirements, such as standardization of the cavity into which screw-in cartridge valves must fit, which could render the Company's products or technologies noncompetitive or obsolete; (v) new product introductions, product sales mix and the geographic mix of sales nationally and internationally; and (vi) changes relating to the Company's international sales, including changes in regulatory requirements or tariffs, trade or currency restrictions, fluctuations in exchange rates, and tax and collection issues. Further information relating to factors that could cause actual results to differ from those anticipated is included but not limited to information under the heading "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" in the Company's Form 10-Q for the guarter ended July 3, 2010, and under the heading "Business" and particularly under the subheading, "Business Risk Factors" in the Company's Form 10-K for the year ended January 2, 2010. The Company disclaims any intention or obligation to update or revise forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.
