Note: The Company announced a three-for-two stock split, effected in the form of a 50% stock dividend, to shareholders of record on June 30, 2011, payable on July 15, 2011. All earnings per share and weighted average share information reflect the 50% stock dividend.

"Sun grew its top line by 36% in 2011, and the bottom line by 76%," reported Allen Carlson, Sun Hydraulics CEO and president. "Sales grew in all geographic markets with sales to North America increasing 40%, Europe 33%, and Asia/Pacific 30%."

"In addition to our strong operational results in 2011, we engaged in a number of activities that position us well to take advantage of future growth opportunities," added Carlson. "We opened a sales office in China, which helped us to increase sales by 49% in this region. Despite an end of year slow down in the region, we expect China to regain its growth trajectory in the long term. We added capability and capacity in 2011, notably in the design and manufacturing engineering area. These additions will help us develop the products and processes that will contribute to our growth. In September 2011, we acquired the remaining interest in High Country Tek (HCT). HCT products and capabilities integrate nicely with our line of electrically-actuated hydraulic valves, creating new opportunities in the marketplace."

Commenting on the recent shared distribution, Carlson, said, "At the foundation of Sun's success are its employees. Their creativity and dedication to quality and service make Sun the place it is today. In 2008, the Board initiated the concept of a shared distribution as a way to reward our employees and shareholders when Sun has a successful year. The shared distribution is at the discretion of the Board and may be considered annually. The Board voted unanimously to grant this year's distribution totaling $7.7 million, with 60% provided to employees and 40% to shareholders."

The 2011 shared distribution consists of a contribution for employees equal to 13.5% of wages, most of which will be paid into retirement plans via Sun Hydraulics stock, and a $0.12 per share cash dividend to shareholders. The shared distribution cash dividend is payable on March 31, 2012, to shareholders of record on March 22, 2012.

Concluding, Carlson said, "First quarter demand has rebounded and is forecast to be 5% above last year's level. Orders are strong in all major geographic regions. Coupled with positive PMI numbers, we expect growth in 2012. We are ready for increasing demand and expect to continue to deliver strong operating results."

Outlook

First quarter 2012 revenues are expected to be approximately $53 million, up approximately 5% from the first quarter of 2011. Earnings per share are estimated to be $0.37 to $0.39 compared to $0.38 in the same period a year ago.

FORWARD-LOOKING INFORMATION

Certain oral statements made by management from time to time and certain statements contained herein that are not historical facts are "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and, because such statements involve risks and uncertainties, actual results may differ materially from those expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements, including those in Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations are statements regarding the intent, belief or current expectations, estimates or projections of the Company, its Directors or its Officers about the Company and the industry in which it operates, and assumptions made by management, and include among other items, (i) the Company's strategies regarding growth, including its intention to develop new products; (ii) the Company's financing plans; (iii) trends affecting the Company's financial condition or results of operations; (iv) the Company's ability to continue to control costs and to meet its liquidity and other financing needs; (v) the declaration and payment of dividends; and (vi) the Company's ability to respond to changes in customer demand domestically and internationally, including as a result of standardization. Although the Company believes that its expectations are based on reasonable assumptions, it can give no assurance that the anticipated results will occur.

Important factors that could cause the actual results to differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements include, among other items, (i) the economic cyclicity of the capital goods industry in general and the hydraulic valve and manifold industry in particular, which directly affect customer orders, lead times and sales volume; (ii) conditions in the capital markets, including the interest rate environment and the availability of capital; (iii) changes in the competitive marketplace that could affect the Company's revenue and/or cost bases, such as increased competition, lack of qualified engineering, marketing, management or other personnel, and increased labor and raw materials costs; (iv) changes in technology or customer requirements, such as standardization of the cavity into which screw-in cartridge valves must fit, which could render the Company's products or technologies noncompetitive or obsolete; (v) new product introductions, product sales mix and the geographic mix of sales nationally and internationally; and (vi) changes relating to the Company's international sales, including changes in regulatory requirements or tariffs, trade or currency restrictions, fluctuations in exchange rates, and tax and collection issues. Further information relating to factors that could cause actual results to differ from those anticipated is included but not limited to information under the heading "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" in the Company's Form 10-Q for the quarter ended October 1, 2011, and under the heading "Business" and particularly under the subheading, "Business Risk Factors" in the Company's Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2011. The Company disclaims any intention or obligation to update or revise forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.
