Professional Soccer Players From Around The World Compete In First Online Global Herbalife Nutrition #AthleteCookOffContest

LOS ANGELES, June 17, 2020 /PRNewswire/ -- Global nutrition company Herbalife Nutrition (NYSE: HLF) announced the winners of its first online global cooking contest featuring professional soccer players from teams around the world. The global cooking competition among Herbalife Nutrition-sponsored soccer teams from around the world launched on May 26 on the Company's Instagram account to encourage healthy eating and the importance of staying active. This virtual event, which reached more than 500,000 people, also helped spark some competition among company-sponsored athletes who had lost the ability to compete due to the coronavirus and engage sports fans around the world who longed to watch their favorite sports heroes compete.

Once winners were selected, grants were awarded on their behalf to their chosen charity. The LA Galaxy's Gordon Wild created "Cozy Salmon" which won the chef's choice award and a grant to the Los Angeles Regional Food Bank. Santiago Montoya of FC Millonarios won the fan vote with his "Formula 1 Power Bowl" recipe, and a grant to his chosen charity,
