BOSTON, MA / ACCESS Newswire / September 3, 2025 / Ondas Holdings Inc. (NASDAQ:ONDS) ("Ondas" or the "Company"), a leading provider of autonomous aerial and ground robot intelligence and private wireless solutions through its business units Ondas Autonomous Systems (OAS) and Ondas Networks, today announced that its wholly owned subsidiary, American Robotics, will participate in CUAS - IDICE 2025, an international counter-uncrewed aircraft systems (CUAS) event taking place September 9-11 in San Diego, California.

CUAS - IDICE 2025, organized by UAS Norway in cooperation with INTERPOL, brings together global law enforcement, defense, and industry leaders for hands-on CUAS exercises. The event highlights live demonstrations at the Southern U.S. border and collaborative training aimed at advancing technologies and operational strategies to counter evolving drone threats. Attendees will include security officials from the U.S. Department of Defense and Department of Homeland Security, international homeland security and intelligence agencies including the U.S. Department of Justice and Federal Bureau of Investigation, representatives from the U.S. Coast Guard, and public safety organizations from around the world.

"CUAS - IDICE 2025 represents an important opportunity for Ondas to engage directly with the global defense and law enforcement community," said Eric Brock, Chairman and CEO of Ondas Holdings. "By demonstrating our Iron Drone Raider system in a collaborative, operational environment, we are highlighting how Ondas is helping address one of today's most urgent security challenges-protecting people and critical infrastructure from hostile drone activity."

American Robotics will showcase its Iron Drone Raider, a fully autonomous interception system designed to neutralize hostile drones in defense and homeland security environments. The Iron Drone Raider has emerged as a best-in-class hard-kill counter-drone solution, validated through operational deployments with allied defense and security customers.
