Lund Takes 4 of Top 5 Can Am Spots

LUND Pros seize top three spots, and 4 out of the top 5 spots, at the AIM Bay Mills Casino Can Am Challenge

New York Mills, Minn. - June 5, 2012 - A gentlemanly wager in a boat might be paying for dinner or the first round of drinks, but at the AIM (Angler's Insight Marketing) Bay Mills Casino Can Am Challenge, the stakes amongst these friendly foes was Vegas-like by comparison - $40,000 to the big winner, in fact.

The overarching story was having the premier walleye pros from Canada and the U.S. duke it out on the water. As it played out, Team USA won in a unanimous decision. LUND pros and Team USA members Scott Duncan, Marianne Huskey and Mark Brumbaugh occupied all three steps of the podium - first, second and third, respectively.

The underlying story, however, is that all three champions run the same brand - a LUND. Is it coincidence, perhaps? But when you look historically at how many crowns have been captured by LUND captains, happenstance goes out the window.

And, when you realize that the most noted walleye experts, both past and present tournament legends, run a LUND - Gary Roach, Tony Roach, Al & James Lindner, Tom Neustrom, Ron Seelhoff, Mike Gofron, Scott and Marty Glorvigen - you know that luck is a secondary factor to success.

At the AIM Bay Mills Casino Can Am Challenge, tournament champion Scott Duncan first put his paws on $40,000 cash. But before running to the bank, he was also entitled to a $6,000 kicker check, a contingency bonus offered exclusively by LUND to AIM competitors who fish from the best walleye boats on the planet.

Lund Pro Marianne Huskey's second place finish was a historical marker, too. She becomes the highest placing female ever in professional walleye tournament fishing. Third position holder, Lund Pro Mark Brumbaugh, like many in the field - including Duncan and Huskey - pulled crank baits atop the weeds to get whacked.

LUND is a proud sponsor of the AIM Pro Walleye Series, and doubly excited about its team's performance.
