Topical Session 9 – Green Data: Opportunities & Risks

Wednesday, January 18 from 9:00am – 10:15am, Equinix speaker: Jim Poole, vice president of business development

Session overview:

As the Internet infrastructure-build proliferates internationally, green and energy issues have moved from desirable corporate governance to center stage in operational terms. In most cases, fundamental investment viability in infrastructure projects is significantly impacted as a result.

This exceptionally topical session featuring industry experts will examine key aspects of conceptualizing, planning, building and implementing best practices in data center and related infrastructures, as well as working to current and emerging industry initiatives. It should be an ideal fast track for anyone who needs a rapid but comprehensive update on the current landscape.

Location: South Pacific 1
