

Company Overview

Innovators since the very beginning, Akerna's flagship product was the originator of cannabis-specific seed-to-sale tracking technology. Over 10+ years and $30 Billion of tracked cannabis sales later, we're continuing to spot business opportunities in the cannabis industry long before anyone else.

Akerna became the first cannabis software company to go public on Nasdaq in 2019 to pursue the mission of consolidating cannabis software technology companies and connecting data points across the global cannabis supply chain. The result: one of the world's most transparent, globally scaled consumer package goods supply chains.

As an industry leading software provider, we understand the unique needs of the industry and hold the blueprint for our clients to become leaders in their own markets. Cannabis operators, brands, and regulatory agencies leverage our vast product ecosystem to power their operations. Our portfolio of products and services include ERP infrastructure with advanced financial and accounting integrations, the most robust cannabis compliance engine offered, and an ecosystem of business operational enhancements.

The cannabis economy runs on Akerna.
