"We start the new Fiscal Year with solid revenue growth and on track to deliver UNQL's stated goals of organic growth combined with strategic acquisitions. Procurement strategies in a challenging logistics market have seen our market share increase and the 231% growth in revenue, based on organic growth, comprises both increased business with existing customers as well as the addition of significant new customers through our planned sales and marketing activities. This puts us in a strong position to execute on our stated acquisition strategy in the coming months with pinpoint precision," said Sunandan Ray, Chief Executive Officer.

Key Business Highlights:

Revenue Environment:

- Management anticipates strong demand for international logistics services for the remainder of fiscal 2022 driven by the continuing recovery of the US economy.
- The reported revenue for the three months ended August 31, 2021 of approximately $189.8 million represents growth of 231% compared with the corresponding prior year period. The revenue growth reflects the continuing success of the Company in achieving organic growth and increased market share by acquiring new customers in a challenging logistics market.

Cost Performance:

- The Company continues to execute its procurement strategies with airlines and shipping lines in order to secure additional capacities, including chartered air cargo capacity, to cater for the expected continuing growth in our business. Increasing domestic warehousing and distribution capabilities to support our international business is an integral part of the strategy as the Company prepares for the further growth that we will actively pursue in the months ahead.
- The Company is constantly seeking cost saving opportunities throughout all levels of its business. Total cost and operating expenses for the period was contained at a level where the Company was able to deliver $3.2 million in Operating Income, versus a loss of $0.6 million in the comparative prior year period.

Non-GAAP Measurement of Business Performance:

This press release includes certain financial information not prepared in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles in the United States ("US GAAP"), including Adjusted EBITDA. Adjusted EBITDA is defined by the Company, for the periods presented, to be earnings before interest, factoring fees, taxes, depreciation and amortization, accretion of debt discounts, loss on debt extinguishments, stock-based compensation, and certain other items. Pursuant to the requirements of Regulation G, the Company has provided a reconciliation in the tables attached to this release of income from continuing operations calculated in accordance with US GAAP to Adjusted EBITDA. Adjusted EBITDA is not a measurement of financial performance under US GAAP and may not be comparable to other similarly titled measures of other companies. The Company calculated and communicated Adjusted EBITDA in the tables because the Company's management believes it is of importance to investors and lenders by providing additional information with respect to the performance of its fundamental business activities. Management presents Adjusted EBITDA because it believes that Adjusted EBITDA is a useful supplement to net income as an indicator of operating performance. Management also believes that Adjusted EBITDA is an industry-wide financial measure that is useful both to management and investors when evaluating the Company's performance and comparing our performance with the performance of our competitors. Management also uses adjusted EBITDA for planning purposes, as well as to evaluate the Company's performance because it believes that adjusted EBITDA more accurately reflects the Company's results, as it excludes certain items, such as stock-based compensation charges, that management believes are not indicative of the Company's operating performance. The Company believes that Adjusted EBITDA is a performance measure and not a liquidity measure. Adjusted EBITDA should not be considered as an alternative to operating or net income as an indicator of performance or as an alternative to cash flows from operating activities as an indicator of cash flows, in each case as determined in accordance with US GAAP, or as a measure of liquidity. In addition, adjusted EBITDA does not take into account changes in certain assets and liabilities as well as interest and Adjusted EBITDA is defined by the Company for the periods presented to be earnings before interest, factoring fees, taxes, depreciation and amortization, accretion of debt discounts, loss on debt extinguishments, stock-based compensation, and certain other items. The Company calculated and communicated Adjusted EBITDA in the tables because the Company's management believes it is of importance to investors and lenders by providing additional information with respect to the performance of its fundamental business activities. Management presents Adjusted EBITDA because it believes that Adjusted EBITDA is a useful supplement to net loss as an indicator of operating performance. Management also believes that Adjusted EBITDA is an industry-wide financial measure that is useful both to management and investors when evaluating the Company's performance and comparing our performance with the performance of our competitors. Management also uses adjusted EBITDA for planning purposes, as well as to evaluate the Company's performance because it believes that adjusted EBITDA more accurately reflects the Company's results, as it excludes certain items, such as stock-based compensation charges, that management believes are not indicative of the Company's operating performance.

The Company's calculation of Adjusted EBITDA may or may not be consistent with the calculation of this measure by other companies in the same industry. Investors should not view Adjusted EBITDA as an alternative to the US GAAP operating measure of net income (loss). In addition, Adjusted EBITDA does not take into account changes in certain assets and liabilities as well as interest and income taxes that can affect cash flows. Management does not intend the presentation of these non-GAAP measures to be considered in isolation or as a substitute for results prepared in accordance with US GAAP. These non-GAAP measures should be read only in conjunction with the Company's consolidated financial statements prepared in accordance with US GAAP income taxes that can affect cash flows.
