"We are excited to begin shipping the Wrap 1200DX video eyewear, offering a huge 2D and 3D 75-inch screen, as seen from 10 feet. Vuzix offers what we believe is the most complete, broadest product line in the wearable technology video eyewear category and this digital input solution for the wrap line rounds it out nicely for those looking for connectivity to the latest devices.," said Paul Travers, President and CEO of Vuzix.

The Wrap 1200DX model connects to virtually any device providing a HDMI compliant port such as mobile phones, tablets, Blu-ray players, game consoles and personal computers. For those looking for something beyond simply watching video, the Wrap 1200DX can be transformed into a Virtual Reality gaming experience with an optional Wrap Tracker to add head tracking capabilities to supporting games and simulations for a see-where-you-look virtual reality gaming experience. Users can also clip on an optional Wrap Lightshield for a truly immersive home theatre experience.
