"We are extremely excited to continue our partnership with Capstone Turbine Corporation. Their mission to create sustainable energy is of growing importance, and we look forward to helping them in their efforts to expand their footprint in the green and renewable energy space. Through B2B initiatives and expansion of brand awareness, we will aim to make the program a success on and off the track," stated George Michael Steinbrenner IV, Co-Owner of Harding Steinbrenner Racing.

"The youthful Colton is a perfect fit for the image of our clean and green microturbine technology. The younger generation makes up 30% of the population and is arguably the most concerned when it comes to environmental sustainability as the first generation to have grown up with climate change as part of everyday life," stated Darren Jamison, Capstone's President and Chief Executive Officer.

"The valuable business relationships we have developed with the support of George Steinbrenner IV and Mike Harding, as well as the new B2B opportunities that will come this season by being part of the Andretti Autosport family, offers Capstone a platform to reach the racing community and help more companies save money and lower their carbon footprint. "Two current sponsors of Andretti Autosport are already Capstone customers, and we have identified 22 others who are potentially well suited for the Capstone technology," added Mr. Jamison.

"We are really excited to have Capstone Turbine supporting Colton Herta and the No. 88 Honda this season and carrying on the success from last season," stated Michael Andretti Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of Andretti Autosport. "We look forward to collaborating with Capstone on both brand building and business development initiatives to showcase their innovative and sustainable energy solutions through our platform," concluded Mr. Andretti.
