Designed to champion success for gardeners across the country, Plantlings have been started by the experts at Ferry-Morse and arrive with strong, established root systems to help gardeners that do not have the time, space or desire to do their own seed starting. All Plantlings are started from non-GMO seeds that are free from chemicals or pesticides harmful to pollinators, including neonicotinoids.

“We thrive on giving gardeners a leg up when they need it and Plantlings make it easy to get a head start on the growing season, taking the guessing out of planning and eliminating the need for indoor seed starting,” said Rebecca Sears, CMO and Resident Green Thumb at Ferry-Morse. “Taking it to the next level, our new Garden Starter Kits for this year are sure to inspire creativity – whether indoors and out – and for both new and experienced gardeners alike.”
