Major News Network Places Additional Order for C-Bond Ballistic-Resistant System for its New York Office Location

C-Bond BRS, independently validated to provide National Institute of Justice Level I, Level IIA, Level II, and Underwriters Laboratories 752 ballistic-resistant protection, has been installed by multiple major news organizations

HOUSTON, Feb. 23, 2021 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- C-Bond Systems (the “Company” or “C-Bond”) (OTC: CBNT), a nanotechnology solutions company, today announced that a major news network has placed an additional order for C-Bond BRS (ballistic-resistant system) for its New York office location to protect against potential gun violence and other means of forced entry.

C-Bond BRS has been installed by multiple major news organizations to protect employees at various sites in the U.S.

C-Bond BRS is a ballistic-resistant film system that consists of the patented C-Bond glass strengthening technology and security film. The C-Bond technology chemically bonds to the defects randomly distributed on the glass surface to increase impact resistance and prevent breakage. C-Bond BRS is validated by an independent third-party laboratory to provide National Institute of Justice (NIJ) Level I, Level IIA, Level II, and Underwriters Laboratories (UL) 752 ballistic-resistant protection.

“Unfortunately, recent events throughout our country have again shown the importance of protecting buildings and those inside against gun violence, riots, and those who seek to forcibly enter a facility,” stated Scott R. Silverman, Chairman and CEO of C-Bond. “C-Bond BRS provides a proven means to stop bullets from penetrating glass, and we are proud that this media organization has once again selected C-Bond BRS to help protect its employees.”

C-Bond BRS has been installed in more than 80 schools, government buildings, media sites, and other high-security facilities around the country. C-Bond’s glass strengthening technology is protected by 22 patents and patent pending applications.
