Virtualis Studios Tapped by Endemol Shine to Provide Scalable Remote Production Solution

Super League's Virtualis Studios Contracted by Endemol Shine North America to Provide Remote Production and Monitoring Support for Season Two of FOX's LEGO Masters

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 28, 2021 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Virtualis Studios, the innovative cloud-based, fully virtual video production division of Super League Gaming (Nasdaq: SLGG), announced today the studio's recent selection by Endemol Shine North America, a division of Banijay, the world's largest international content producer and distributor delivering world-class content and compelling storytelling to multiple platforms in the U.S. and across the globe, to provide remote production and monitoring solutions for the second season of FOX's LEGO Masters. Through this deal, Virtualis Studios supported Endemol Shine's commitment to maintain COVID-safe environments, contain costs, meet tight production timelines and facilitate critical real-time, remote communications between producers, executives, directors, agents, contestants and talent while shooting. The second season of LEGO Masters is set to premiere Tuesday, June 1 (8:00-9:00 PM ET/PT) on FOX.

"Virtualis Studios was an integral and invaluable contributor to our daily production and communication workflows for LEGO Masters. We needed someone with deep experience in remote production and monitoring who could eliminate the unknowns and provide a solution that just worked for our team and our partners, no matter what," says Rob Day, Endemol Shine's EVP and Head of Production. "Virtualis understands that production has changed forever and has a system and approach that meet our current and future needs."

Virtualis Studios specializes in integrating multiple technology solutions to ensure any given project can be produced and monitored successfully on a partially or fully remote basis. The proprietary infrastructure supports multiple, concurrent virtual control rooms that are fully operational at any given time, with limitless scalability compared to what is possible within physical studios and on-site control rooms. Able to be deployed across small- and large-scale projects, including live broadcasts, live events and live-to-tape entertainment and branded content productions, Virtualis' system and team of expert producers, technical directors, broadcast technicians and engineers ensure seamless communications and up to hundreds of dynamic content sources are available through a stable and secure cloud-based framework with near-zero latency.

"Even with the capabilities available during a broadcast network-level sound stage production, traditional workflows do not accommodate functions such as remote monitoring and digital guest support,” says Brian Gramo, General Manager of Virtualis Studios. “When we showed the executives in charge of production how easy it is to plug into Virtualis and just go, their broadcast crew was thrilled.”

“Endemol Shine is one of the most exciting and sophisticated content production companies in the world,” says Mike Baron, SVP of Partnerships for Super League and Virtualis Studios. “We are thankful that they recognized why Virtualis Studios is unique and so well-suited to support the LEGO Masters television franchise.”
