Telephonics Announces the Opening of a New Facility in Elizabeth City, NC to Provide Repair, Sustainment and Upgrade Services

FARMINGDALE, N.Y.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Telephonics Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of Griffon Corporation (NYSE:GFF), announced today the opening of its 22,000 square foot facility in Elizabeth City, NC that will house the Telephonics Technical Support Services Center. The facility is comprised of 15,000 square feet of hangar space, including a state-of-the-art demonstration room to simulate the system operator's environment and 7,000 square feet of office and avionics repair space.

"This facility will enable Telephonics to provide repair and maintenance support services to our customers. The proximity to the U.S. Coast Guard's Air Logistics Center will facilitate our ability to expand our role with that customer, not only as a provider of the advanced systems and technologies they need to better perform their missions, but also to ensure that their systems are available to be used at all times", said Joseph Battaglia, President and Chief Executive Officer of Telephonics. "We also see tremendous opportunities to foster the continuing economic development of Elizabeth City and Pasquotank County, to provide an enabler to mentor Aviation Sciences candidates and to grow the aviation industry in that local area" Mr. Battaglia continued.
