Omega Provides Update on COVID-19 Impact

HUNT VALLEY, Md.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Omega Healthcare Investors, Inc. (NYSE:OHI) today provided an update on the impact of COVID-19 on its business and operators.

Taylor Pickett, Omega's Chief Executive Officer, stated, "We continue to closely monitor the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on our operators and to support their efforts to manage this unprecedented challenge. We are also heartened by the recent progress on statutory relief measures at the federal and state levels, including expanded Medicaid reimbursements, which we believe may offer meaningful support to our skilled nursing facility and assisted living facility operators working so hard to meet the needs of their residents.

"Based on discussions with our operators, we have been notified to date of 57 confirmed cases of the virus in our facilities, with 42 residents and 15 employees in 28 facilities that have been impacted. All but one of the facilities are skilled nursing facilities, and the impacted facilities are located in 14 states and the United Kingdom. In addition, many of our operators are experiencing significant cost increases as a result of the pandemic. These increases primarily stem from elevated labor costs, including increased use of overtime and bonus pay, as well as a significant increase in both the cost and usage of personal protective equipment and supplies. In terms of occupancy levels, we are seeing mixed impacts, with some operators reporting a modest decline and others seeing a slight uptick.

"While we have not, at this time, seen any material change in the financial performance of our business, we would note that our earnings guidance for 2020 does not include the potential impact of COVID-19. This situation is rapidly evolving, and we expect to update our earnings guidance in conjunction with the release of our first quarter earnings. In the meantime, we remain in frequent contact with our operators, and believe they are working tirelessly to implement appropriate protocols, in line with CDC and CMS guidelines, to limit exposure and spread of the COVID-19 virus, including through use of daily screenings and isolation techniques. In addition, we are hopeful that the recently announced government relief is administered rapidly to offset the sharp increase in costs that our operators are incurring to combat this crisis.

"Lastly, further to our recently announced partial draw on our revolving credit facility, we continue to take steps to enhance our capital position as a precautionary measure. Today, we have approximately $315 million in cash on our balance sheet and $738 million in availability under our credit facility. We have no significant bond maturities until August 2023. In addition, we have entered into $400 million (notional amount) of 10-year interest rate swaps at an average swap rate of 0.8675% that expire in 2024, which provides us with significant cost certainty upon refinancing of our 2023 bond maturity. While we believe our actions to date provide us with significant liquidity and flexibility to weather a potential pronounced and prolonged impact to our business, we will continue to evaluate any additional steps that may be needed to maintain adequate liquidity."
