ProLogis Leases 147,000 Square Feet in Houston

- New Transaction Brings ProLogis' Houston Portfolio to 99 Percent Leased -

HOUSTON, Jan. 27 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- ProLogis (NYSE: PLD), a leading global provider of distribution facilities, announced today that it has leased more than 147,000 square feet of recently completed distribution space to OHL, a leading third party logistics provider.

"We value OHL's ongoing business relationship and are pleased that the company has once again chosen ProLogis to meet its distribution space needs," said Ross Matthews, first vice president and market officer for ProLogis in Houston. "This transaction brings our overall leased percentage in the market to 99 percent, which highlights Houston as a key location for our customers' supply chain networks."

OHL will occupy the space in Houston at ProLogis NorthPark, located along Interstate 45, north of Beltway 8. The lease agreement marks the 11th between the two companies; OHL now occupies approximately 2.8 million square feet of distribution space with ProLogis in various locations across the United States.

"This new distribution center will help us continue to meet the needs of our customers in the Houston area," said Bob Spieth, president, contract logistics at OHL. "We appreciate ProLogis' ability to deliver high-quality distribution space, in a great location, within the required time frame."

Additional customers at ProLogis NorthPark include Anna's Linens, Proinlosa Energy Corporation, Cyclone Enterprises and Labrada Bodybuilding Nutrition. The distribution park comprises approximately 500,000 square feet in four buildings.

ProLogis is one of the largest providers of industrial distribution space in Houston with a 10.9-million-square-foot portfolio. Additional customers in the market include Toshiba, Mitsubishi Group and Iron Mountain Information Management.
