Telkonet, Inc. CEO and Director, Jason Tienor, First Interview with Everett Jolly on Uptick Newswire's "Stock Day" Podcast

PHOENIX, Aug. 23, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Telkonet, Inc. (OTCQB: TKOI), (the "Company") announced CEO and Director, Jason Tienor's first interview on Uptick Newswire's "Stock Day" Podcast.

Everett Jolly invited a company for the first time to Uptick Newswire's "Stock Day" podcast, Telkonet, Inc.'s CEO and Director, Jason Tienor. "Jason, welcome to the show! Give my listeners a statement about who you guys are and how you make your money."

Telkonet, Inc. is an intelligent automation or Internet of Things (IoT) Company. Largely what we do is design and manufacture products that speak to one another. Using a number of triggers or intelligence, these products are able to conserve energy for our commercial customers. A number of these products include thermostats, outlets and light switches that, once a room becomes unoccupied, will shift away from temperature and will turn off lighting and plug-load devices so that the property can conserve money when nobody's there. Our devices also integrate with a number of other smart products within the wireless industry or cloud environment, specific to our markets, which allow us to provide incredible welcoming environments.

Jolly interjected, "You just reported your 2nd quarter. $3 million. 40% in growth. How did you get there?"

Tienor replied that the industry itself has seen some rapid growth during 2018, surprisingly in consumer education. Being a leader in this market has really given Telkonet the ability to expand their market penetration and awareness and really grow the business quite dramatically. He expects this to continue primarily because the IoT industry is currently in its infancy.

In closing, Tienor indicated that the Company is really maintaining its competitive edge in the industry due to its products, plus developing and incorporating the best technologies. Telkonet has the most comprehensive platform that's available to their markets.

Jolly believes the Company is currently undervalued and underfollowed. Tienor said the Company will take a strategic look at the market and all the players and come back with some better alternatives and increase shareholder value for investors.
