Part II Organizational Action Attach additional statements if needed. See back of form for additional questions.

- 14 Describe the organizational action and, if applicable, the date of the action or the date against which shareholders' ownership is measured for the action ► On August 26, 2024, BiomX Inc. (the "Company") effected a one-for-ten reverse stock split (the "Reverse Stock Split") of all of the Company's then issued and outstanding common stock, par value $0.0001 per share (the "Common Stock") and units, each consisting of one share of Common Stock and one warrant exercisable for half a share of Common Stock (the "Units"), pursuant to which every ten shares of Common Stock ("Old Common Stock") or Units ("Old Units"), as applicable, were consolidated into one share of Common Stock ("New Common Stock") or Units ("New Units"), as applicable, with all fractional shares of New Common Stock or New Units rounded up to the nearest whole share of New Common Stock or New Unit, as applicable.
- Company stockholders are urged to refer to the Report on Form 8-K filed by the Company with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission on August 16, 2024, and to consult with their own tax advisors regarding the consequences of the Reverse Stock Split, including the applicability and effect of all U.S. federal, state and local, and foreign tax laws.
- 15 Describe the quantitative effect of the organizational action on the basis of the security in the hands of a U.S. taxpayer as an adjustment per share or as a percentage of old basis ► The Reverse Stock Split was intended to qualify as a "reorganization" within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). The aggregate adjusted tax basis of the shares of New Common Stock or New Units, as applicable, received by a Company stockholder in the Reverse Stock Split should be equal to the aggregate adjusted basis of the shares of Old Common Stock or Old Units, as applicable, exchanged therefor. Company stockholders that acquired Common Stock or Units at different times or at different prices must allocate such adjusted tax basis with respect to each block of shares of Old Common Stock or Old Units surrendered. The Reverse Stock Split had no effect on the total basis in New Common Stock or New Units received in the Reverse Stock Split and will be equal to such Company stockholder's basis in the Old Common Stock or Old Units, as applicable, surrendered in the Reverse Stock Split.
- 16 Describe the calculation of the change in basis and the data that supports the calculation, such as the market values of securities and the valuation dates ► The aggregate adjusted tax basis of the New Common Stock or New Units, as applicable, received by a Company stockholder in the Reverse Stock Split should be equal to the aggregate adjusted tax basis of the Old Common Stock or Old Units, as applicable, exchanged therefor. Company stockholder that acquired Common Stock or Units at different times or at different prices must allocate such adjusted tax basis with respect to each block of Old Common Stock or Old Units, as applicable, surrendered. Company stockholders should consult their own tax advisors regarding the appropriate method for determining their specific tax treatment of the Reverse Stock Split (including but not limited to the computation of gain and tax basis).

17 List the applicable Internal Revenue Code section(s) and subsection(s) upon which the tax treatment is based ► Sections 354, 358, 361, 368, 1221, and 1223 are the applicable Code sections upon which the tax treatment of the Reverse Stock Split is based.

18 Can any resulting loss be recognized? ► Company stockholders generally cannot recognize any gain or loss upon receipt of New Common Stock or New Units in the Reverse Stock Split.

19 Provide any other information necessary to implement the adjustment, such as the reportable tax year ► The basis adjustments resulting from the Reverse Stock Split are taken into account in the tax year of a Company stockholder during which the Reverse Stock Split occurred (e.g., 2024 for calendar year taxpayers).
