Mark Cuban's Co-Star Stealing the Spotlight in New SKECHERS Super Bowl Ad

MANHATTAN BEACH, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- SKECHERS USA, Inc. (NYSE:SKX) announced today that its upcoming Skechers GOrun commercial premiering during SUPER BOWL XLVI is creating massive media excitement for the spot's surprising co-star—a scrappy French bulldog named Mr. Quiggly.

Mr. Quiggly steps into the spotlight as the representative of SKECHERS' underdog image in the performance arena. The new campaign stars Dallas Mavericks owner Mark Cuban and will use humor to illustrate how SKECHERS now produces performance footwear that's exceeding expectations and impressing runners and athletes everywhere. SKECHERS will run its spot in the coveted position right before the two minute warning in the first half of the game.

Designed by the Company's Advanced Concepts Team after three years of research working with elite runners, the radically lightweight Skechers GOrun minimal running shoe features mid-foot strike technology and GOimpulse sensors for enhanced sensory feedback. Skechers GOrun is available in sporting goods, department and specialty athletic stores, and SKECHERS stores around the world.

This announcement may contain forward-looking statements that are made pursuant to the safe harbor provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements include, without limitation, any statement that may predict, forecast, indicate or simply state future results, performance or achievements, and can be identified by the use of forward looking language such as "believe," "anticipate," "expect," "estimate," "intend," "plan," "project," "will be," "will continue," "will result," "could," "may," "might," or any variations of such words with similar meanings. Any such statements are subject to risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected in forward-looking statements. Factors that might cause or contribute to such differences include international, national and local general economic, political and market conditions including the ongoing global economic slowdown and market instability; entry into the highly competitive performance footwear market; sustaining, managing and forecasting costs and proper inventory levels; losing any significant customers, decreased demand by industry retailers and cancellation of order commitments due to the lack of popularity of particular designs and/or categories of products; maintaining brand image and intense competition among sellers of footwear for consumers; anticipating, identifying, interpreting or forecasting changes in fashion trends, consumer demand for the products and the various market factors described above; sales levels during the spring, back-to-school and holiday selling seasons; and other factors referenced or incorporated by reference in SKECHERS' Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2010 and its Form 10-Q for the quarter ended September 30, 2011. The risks included here are not exhaustive. SKECHERS operates in a very competitive and rapidly changing environment. New risks emerge from time to time and the companies cannot predict all such risk factors, nor can the companies assess the impact of all such risk factors on their respective businesses or the extent to which any factor, or combination of factors, may cause actual results to differ materially from those contained in any forward-looking statements. Given these risks and uncertainties, you should not place undue reliance on forward-looking statements as a prediction of actual results. Moreover, reported results should not be considered an indication of future performance.
