Globe Telecom And Mandalay Digital Partner To Boost Apps Use In Philippines

LOS ANGELES, July 3, 2014 /PRNewswire/ --Mandalay Digital Group, Inc. (Nasdaq: MNDL), a leading provider of mobile technology solutions through its wholly owned subsidiary, Digital Turbine, announced today that it is partnering with Globe Telecom to boost apps use in the Philippines.

Globe Telecom, a company that continues to lead the smartphone revolution in the Philippines, will launch Mandalay Digital's DT Ignite™ solution for application and content pre-installations on mobile devices later this month.

Compatible with Google's Android OS and used by a variety of the world's largest cellular operators, DT Ignite™ will allow Globe subscribers to enjoy the rich capabilities of their devices with the installment of apps for immediate use and access. DT Ignite™ allows mobile operators to maximize the efficiency of pre- and post- loading apps on smartphones, giving them the simplest and easiest way to boost advertising revenues.

"We are excited to leverage this partnership to provide a richer out-of-the-box experience for our customers by featuring different applications pre-installed and ready to be used," said Daniel Horan, Senior Advisor for Consumer Business at Globe. "The new capabilities will definitely help our subscribers enjoy a wonderful mobile experience with access to all the content and apps on their devices."

"We look forward to solidifying our relationship with Globe as we bring the full smartphone experience with relevant apps to Filipinos," said Peter Adderton, Chief Executive Officer of Mandalay Digital. "Using our DT Ignite™ solution, Globe will be able to better target its subscribers with the right applications, giving them the best possible mobile experience."
