Omega Healthcare Clarifies Status of Haven Healthcare Portfolio

TIMONIUM, Md.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--

Omega Healthcare Investors, Inc. (NYSE:OHI) commented today on an equity analyst report issued on April 2, 2008 that contained statements regarding OHI's Haven Eldercare portfolio that OHI's management believes were inaccurate or were taken out of context from excerpts of certain of Haven's recent filings in its ongoing bankruptcy proceedings. The statements speculated that providers of the debtor-in-possession financing were reluctant to fund Haven through its restructuring and that Haven may not renew its master lease with OHI in June. The report also noted that Haven was proposing that potential bidders for its properties begin with an opening offer of just $8 million to $15 million which is below OHI's outstanding $61.8 million mortgages which are secured by a first lien on seven Haven facilities.

Taylor Pickett, Omega's chief executive officer, commenting on the statements in the report said, "Apparently Haven's reply to the Unsecured Creditors' Committee's Objection to Haven's motion to extend the exclusivity period has generated some confusion and while Omega does not normally comment on analyst reports, in this instance I think it is critical that the facts regarding our portfolio be accurate. Specifically, Page 3 of that motion states that '...the stalking-horse bid the Debtors propose to accept does provide substantial benefit to the unsecured creditors in the form of an opening offer of $8 million to $15 million.' The motion also states that '...the proposed stalking-horse bid creates a floor recovery of $8 million to $15 million for unsecured creditors.' I believe that contrary to facing a risk of charge-off, if in fact the unsecured creditors recover $8 million to $15 million, then the secured creditors will recover 100% of their indebtedness," Mr. Pickett explained. (Emphasis added.)

"Although no one can predict whether Haven will ultimately assume or reject OHI's master lease, throughout these proceedings Haven has consistently indicated that the OHI master lease is a valuable asset to the estate that will be assumed as part of the sale process. I am not aware of any facts that would indicate that there has been a change in Haven's position on this," Mr. Pickett added.

Finally, Mr. Pickett noted that "Omega is a participant in Haven's debtor-in-possession financing, and I am also not aware of any instance where there has been any reluctance to fund in accordance with the terms and conditions of the loan."
