734 Agriculture and Arlon Group Complete Acquisition of Majority Interest in Alico, Inc.

FORT MYERS, Fla. and NEW YORK, Nov. 19, 2013 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- 734 Agriculture, LLC and Alico, Inc. (Nasdaq:ALCO) announced today that affiliates of 734 Agriculture, a private investment company owned and controlled by Remy W. Trafelet and George R. Brokaw, in partnership with Arlon Group, a global food and agriculture investment firm founded by Continental Grain Company, completed the previously announced acquisition of approximately 50.5 percent of Alico's outstanding voting stock from Atlantic Blue Group, a family owned holding company.

Mr. Trafelet commented, "We are very excited to have completed our acquisition of a majority stake in Alico. Since the beginning of this process, we have been extremely impressed with Alico, its management team and employees. We also appreciate the support we have received from Arlon Group in completing this transaction."

Clay G. Wilson, a third generation citrus grower associated with the citrus industry for more than 28 years, who will serve as Chief Executive Officer of Alico, added, "I look forward to working with Alico's quality management team to further build upon Alico's long term success, increase opportunities for growth and improve operating performance to the benefit of all of our shareholders and employees."

Ken Smith, Alico's Chief Operating Officer, said, "All of us at Alico are very excited about partnering with Clay and our new shareholders and what that partnership will mean for our next phase of growth, as well as the benefits it offers to the Florida citrus industry."

Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz served as legal advisor to 734 Agriculture. Stephens served as financial advisor.

About Alico, Inc.

Alico, Inc. is an American agribusiness and land management company built for today's world and known for its legacy of achievement and innovation in citrus, sugar, cattle and resource conservation. Alico owns approximately 130,800 acres of land in six Florida counties (Alachua, Collier, Glades, Hendry, Lee and Polk). Its principal lines of business are citrus groves, improved farmland including sugar cane, cattle ranching and conservation, and other operations which include rock mining. Alico's mission is to create value for its customers, clients and shareholders by managing existing lands to their optimal current income and total returns, opportunistically acquiring new agricultural assets and producing high quality agricultural products while exercising responsible environmental stewardship.
