This "XLF" experience features a wall-to-wall screen of at least 40 feet wide and 4K Laser projection, powered by Barco. Moviegoers can expect to see the biggest blockbusters on XL at AMC screens, in 2D and 3D formats. The XL at AMC experience will also allow more large-screen programming flexibility at AMC when multiple blockbusters are playing in theatres that also contain a Premium Large Format (PLF) screen.

This new XL at AMC initiative is designed to make it easier for guests to identify the largest non-PLF auditorium in theatres that have screens at least 40 feet wide. Every XL at AMC auditorium receives a branded entry, and easy-to-identify branding on the AMC website and mobile app.

The XL at AMC auditorium is the latest innovation under the AMC Go Plan, the company's forward-looking strategy to invest in and reimagine the theatrical experience for guests nationwide. From more and better PLF experiences, to luxury seating and cutting-edge laser projection, to dynamic new food and beverage offerings, AMC is focused on delivering unmatched comfort, quality, and immersion.

The first two XL at AMC auditoriums are officially unveiled at AMC locations in Kansas. AMC expects to bring up to 50 XL at AMC auditoriums to its U.S. circuit in 2025.

AMC expects to unveil up to 50 XL at AMC locations by the end of 2025.

Adam Aron, Chairman and CEO of AMC Theatres, commented on the launch:

“XL at AMC is the next evolution in ensuring our guests know where they can find the largest screens at our theatres. We are excited to open our first XL auditoriums right here in our home state of Kansas, as we execute on the AMC Go Plan and reaffirm our commitment to redefining what it means to go to the movies.”

Guests at AMC DINE-IN Studio 28 and AMC DINE-IN Prairiefire 17 can book their tickets for the XL experience by looking for the XL logo next to showtimes on the AMC website and mobile app.
