On Tuesday, May 11th, the opening keynote presentation will feature Rick Smith, Chief Executive Officer of Equifax who will provide unique insight on the direction of today's economy and how certain markets are currently adapting. Additional featured speakers include two leading I-9 officials from the United States Department of Homeland Security. Throughout the event, dozens of educational sessions will provide attendees with the latest information on trends and legislation impacting hiring, pay reporting and compliance practices. These sessions will be delivered by TALX subject matter experts, as well as TALX clients who will share their "in the trenches" knowledge and experience. Sessions include:

- HR and Payroll Compliance
- "Keeping Up with the States" - the latest on Tax Incentives
- Unemployment Legislative Update - "What You Need to Know Now"
- "Saving Money and the Environment - Electronic Delivery of W2s"
- I-9 Compliance - "Get Compliant and Stay That Way"
- "Know Who You are Letting In: Identity's Role in the Onboarding Process"
- Fundamentals of Unemployment Tax Management

Bill Canfield, President, TALX, said, "Our last Client Forum, which focused exclusively on Tax Management Services, was a resounding success and garnered positive feedback from attendees. With economic challenges still casting a shadow on many organizations, it's more critical than ever before to be fully educated on business-critical issues such as pre-employment testing, new-hire onboarding, identity verification and employee self-service empowerment. As a result, we have expanded the Forum to include all TALX service areas, and I'm confident that this year's event will not only meet but exceed the expectations of its participants."

More information about the event – including details about early bird registration pricing available to attendees through March 1, 2010 - can be accessed at www.talx.com/ClientForum.
