U.S. Congresswoman Ann Wagner led today's ribbon-cutting ceremony attended by Equifax leadership and local dignitaries, stating, "Equifax Workforce Solutions is not just a business, but a service to our nation."

Congresswoman Ann Wagner and Equifax senior financial officer, Ken Marshall cut the ribbon at the new Equifax Earth City facility on April 24, 2014.

The event also included an opening statement from Ken Marshall, senior financial officer at Equifax Workforce Solutions, and a town hall session with Congresswoman Wagner.

With the opening of the Rider Trail facility, St. Louis is the second-largest employee location in the Equifax portfolio with 1,250 full-time employees and contractors in the area, accounting for 20 percent of the Equifax U.S. workforce and nearly 60 percent of the Workforce Solutions division. The expansion is part of a larger global Equifax initiative, known as Score 850, designed to improve collaboration and drive performance through innovative and flexible workspaces that provide access to advanced technology.

"Equifax Workforce Solutions has a long history in the St. Louis area and continues to invest in the local community. Opening the Rider Trail facility will make a positive impact on the region and provide Equifax employees with a dynamic workplace that will enable increased communication and foster innovation for our clients," said Dann Adams, president of Equifax Workforce Solutions.
