XTI Aerospace Drone Nerds Expands into Wearable Augmented Reality Technology with XREAL AR Glasses

Innovative AR Lineup Brings Immersive Experiences to Consumers and Enterprise Users

ENGLEWOOD, Colo., Jan. 26, 2026 /PRNewswire/ -- XTI Aerospace, Inc. (Nasdaq: XTIA) ("XTI," or the "Company") an aerospace technology company focused on building and scaling its newly acquired subsidiary, Drone Nerds, LLC ("Drone Nerds"), and its comprehensive unmanned aircraft system ("UAS") platform for enterprise and government customers, today announced the expansion of Drone Nerds' camera and sensors product line with the addition of XREAL augmented reality glasses and accessories.

The addition of XREAL expands Drone Nerds' portfolio into wearable augmented reality technology that transforms how people experience content and visualize information. XREAL's lineup of AR glasses, spatial computing devices, and accessories delivers immersive virtual screens, high-quality Micro-OLED displays, spatial audio, and mobile interaction for entertainment, gaming, and productivity.

"XREAL brings innovative wearable display technology to our portfolio, expanding the ways customers can engage with immersive digital content," said Jeremy Schneiderman, CEO of Drone Nerds. "This addition reflects our ongoing focus on introducing new technologies that deliver meaningful value to our customers."

Innovative Wearable Display Technology

The XREAL product ecosystem is built to deliver a seamless wearable augmented reality experience.

- XREAL One Pro serves as the flagship AR glasses, offering an expanded field of view,

Sony Micro-OLED displays, and Bose-tuned open-ear audio for high-end immersive viewing.

- XREAL 1S provides a lightweight and more compact AR glasses option, designed for everyday comfort while still delivering vivid visuals and spatial sound.
- XREAL Beam Pro acts as the spatial computing companion, enabling app-based virtual screens, media playback, and interactive AR content.
- XREAL Eye adds spatial tracking and point-of-view capture, allowing virtual screens to anchor naturally in physical space.
- XREAL Hub provides fast charging and smooth video passthrough, supporting extended and uninterrupted use.

Together, the ecosystem combines advanced display technology, spatial computing accessories, and mobile connectivity into a flexible AR platform designed for both personal and professional environments.

"XREAL is focused on making high-quality augmented reality accessible for everyday use through lightweight, comfortable eyewear and a flexible product ecosystem," stated Sebastian Luo, International Sales Head of XREAL. "By working with Drone Nerds, we are expanding access to wearable AR technology that enhances how people enjoy content, stay productive, and engage with digital experiences wherever they are."
