

Network-1 Receives Another New Patent from U.S. Patent Office Expanding Its Cox Patent Portfolio to 23 Patents

NEW YORK, NY -- (Marketwired) -- 01/30/18 -- Network-1 Technologies, Inc. (NYSE AMERICAN: NTIP) (NYSE MKT: NTIP), a company engaged in the development, licensing and protection of intellectual property, announced today that the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office issued U.S. Patent No. 9,883,253 ("Methods for Using Extracted Feature Vectors to Perform an Action Associated with a Product") to Network-1. The claims in the newly issued patent are generally directed towards methods of content identification and performance of actions following therefrom.

The newly issued patent arises from a patent application contained in the patent portfolio acquired by Network-1 from Professor Ingemar Cox in 2013 (the "Portfolio") The Portfolio includes patents relating to enabling technology for identifying media content, such as music and videos, and taking further actions to be performed based on such identification including, among others, the insertion of advertisements and the facilitation of the purchase of goods and services relating to the media content. Since December 2016, Network-1 has received eleven (11) new patents in the Portfolio. Since the acquisition of the Portfolio, Network-1 has filed twenty-four (24) additional patent applications, eighteen (18) of which have been issued bringing the total Portfolio of granted patents to twenty-three (23). Six (6) applications relating to the original specification are still pending and Network-1 anticipates further issuances of additional claims for this Portfolio.

Dr. Cox is currently a Professor at the University of Copenhagen and a Professor at University College London, where he is Head of its Media Futures Group. Dr. Cox was formerly a member of the Technical Staff at AT&T Bell Labs and a Fellow at NEC Research Institute. In connection with the acquisition of the Portfolio, Dr. Cox provides consulting services to Network-1 with respect to the patents and the related pending and future patent applications and assists in Network-1's efforts to develop the Portfolio.
