Parker Drilling Company Receives Continued Listing Standard Notice from NYSE

HOUSTON, March 15, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Parker Drilling Company (NYSE: PKD) today announced that on March 14, 2018, Parker Drilling was notified by the New York Stock Exchange of its noncompliance with continued listing standards because the average closing price of its common stock over a prior 30 consecutive trading day period had fallen below $1.00 per share, which is the minimum average closing price per share required to maintain listing on the NYSE.

As required by the NYSE, the Company has notified the NYSE of its intent to cure the deficiency and restore its compliance with the NYSE continued listing standards. In general, a listed company has a period of six months following the receipt of the notice to regain compliance. In order to regain compliance, on the last trading day in any calendar month during the cure period, the Company's common stock must have (i) a closing price of at least $1.00 per share and (ii) an average closing price of at least $1.00 per share over the 30 trading day period ending on the last trading day of such month. During this period, subject to Parker Drilling's compliance with other NYSE continued listing requirements, Parker Drilling's common stock will continue to be listed and traded on the NYSE under the symbol "PKD" but will have an added designation of ".BC" to indicate the status of the common stock as below compliance. This indicator will be removed once Parker Drilling is deemed compliant with the NYSE's listing standards.

The NYSE notification does not affect Parker Drilling's business operations or its Securities and Exchange Commission reporting requirements and does not result in a default under any of the Company's material debt agreements.
