Ameresco to Participate in MEUC Year-End Meeting

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. & LONDON--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Ameresco, Inc., (NYSE:AMRC), a leading energy efficiency and renewable energy company today announced that Ameresco will participate in the December 8, 2016, Major Energy Users' Council (MEUC) annual dinner at the Carlton Club, St James's and House of Lords, Westminster. MEUC members and policy groups are scheduled to attend.

On Thursday, David J. Anderson, Executive Vice President, Ameresco is slated to present an afternoon session titled 'Letter from America – the Energy Efficiency Scene.' His presentation will address an overview of the U.S. efficiency market, as well as lessons learned from Ameresco's leadership in the energy services marketplace, and experience serving a wide range of customers.

"It's an honor to be asked to address MEUC members," said Mr. Anderson. "There are many similarities between the markets in the U.S. and UK, and it's a great opportunity to share some experiences and best practices that others can readily leverage and institute."

About the MEUC

The MEUC acts as an independent clearing house of information for the benefit of its Member subscribers. These are drawn from medium size and larger industrial, commercial and public sector organisations. The Council provides a raft of services through meetings, publications and on demand support to its individual Members. These are designed to ensure their organisations' energy costs reflect their purchasing power and they can plan ahead with confidence for the transformation to the low carbon economy. The Council represents the interests of its Members on various governmental, regulatory and supplier committees including the influential Business Energy Forum. The MEUC also offers advice and can take up issues on behalf of Members either individually or collectively when these arise with regulators and the supply industries.
