flyExclusive Delivers Premium Private Charter on a Global Scale with flyExclusive International

Private aviation leader offers on-demand, long-range service for international travel

KINSTON, N.C.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- LGM Enterprises, parent company of flyExclusive, a leading provider of premium private jet charter travel, announced today the launch of flyExclusive International, adding on-demand, long-range global service to the flyExclusive's growing portfolio of world-class private charter offerings. With the new service, flyers can now travel to Europe, Hawaii, Alaska and beyond with the same level of reliability, safety and comfort they have come to expect from flyExclusive.

Customers on flyExclusive International will have access to premium Gulfstream GIV-SP aircraft, with seating capacity for up to 16 passengers, berthable (sleep-adjustable) seating and a white-glove experience. Since acquiring Sky Night LLC in March 2020, the company has expanded its fleet of Gulfstream aircraft and now officially announces its rebranding as flyExclusive

International.

"As the economy reopens and passengers seek to get back in the air for leisure or business, we want them to know that flyExclusive International is here to take them anywhere they dream of flying," said Mike Guina, president, flyExclusive. "Our flyExclusive International service delivers the high quality, personalized experience for which we have come to be known on a truly global scale.”

flyExclusive, a leading innovator in private aviation with decades of industry experience, has quickly grown into the seventh largest private jet operator in the United States. With a floating fleet of more than 55 Cessna Citation jet aircraft ranging in capabilities for short, medium and long-range itineraries, the company has been ranked one of the top Part 135 operators in the U.S.

Recently, flyExclusive announced a streamlining of its Jet Club membership program, a partnership designed to simplify and enhance the private charter experience while giving members control, reliability and consistency in their private travel and the most aggressive private flying rates available.

“We continue to grow flyExclusive into a global leader in private aviation with a focus on safety, control, reliability and consistency,” said Jim Segrave, founder. “The introduction of international capabilities to our portfolio of services continues this growth and reinforces our reputation for innovation in the private charter marketplace.”
