Sidus Space CEO Carol Craig Named as Globee® Award Winner and Finalist in Stevie® Awards for Women in Business

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Sidus Space, Inc. (NASDAQ: SIDU), a Space-as-a-Service satellite company focused on mission critical hardware manufacturing; multi-disciplinary engineering services; satellite design, production, launch planning, mission operations; and in-orbit support, is proud to announce that Sidus Space CEO Carol Craig has been honored as a winner in the 15th annual Globee® Women World Awards and is a finalist in the 19th annual Stevie® Awards for Women in Business.

The Globee Women World Awards recognizes women in business and professions from all over the world. The coveted annual Women World Awards program encompasses the world's best in leadership, innovation, organizational performance, new products and services, and milestones from every major industry in the world. Organizations from all over the world are eligible to submit nominations including public and private, for-profit and nonprofit, largest to smallest and new start-ups. Sidus Space won the gold for Women-Run Workplace of the Year and Craig was also honored as Female Executive of the Year.

The Stevie Awards for Women in Business honor women executives, entrepreneurs, employees and the companies they run — worldwide. The Stevie Awards have been hailed as the world's premier business awards. More than 1,500 entries were submitted this year for consideration in more than 100 categories, including Executive of the Year, Entrepreneur of the Year, Company of the Year, Startup of the Year, Women Helping Women, and Women Run Workplace of the Year. Sidus Space and Craig are finalists in the Most Innovative Woman of the Year (Technology) and Achievement in Product Innovation categories, respectively. Award winners will be announced during a gala event in Las Vegas on Friday, Nov. 11.
