"Rob and Bryce are culture warriors who are courageous and unafraid," said Salem Senior Vice President of Spoken Word, Phil Boyce. "They take on this battle with a biblical world view. Think David versus Goliath, and we all know how that worked out for the giant. I am very excited to add their podcast to our platform."

"In a season of unprecedented censorship that has directly affected our podcast, we are thrilled to join Salem, where the freedom of speech still matters and is mightily protected and powerfully broadcast," said Rob McCoy.

"We are in a battle for the ages. Our fight is against evil politicians and an elite oligarchy that exists at the intersection of big corporate and government interests," said Bryce Eddy. "The greatest advantage good people have is community. We are pleased to join the Salem community and their amazing line-up of podcasters. Two can fight ten!"

The Salem Podcast network launched in January 2021 and is already ranked as the 11th most listened to podcast network on the Triton Digital platform, with over 17 million average downloads per month.
