Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

This presentation contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. All statements other than statements of historical fact contained in this Quarterly Report are forward-looking statements, including without limitation, but are not limited to, statements regarding the Company's strategic transformation, the Company's development strategy, the Company's future cash flow and cash reserves, the Company's historical outlook for fiscal year 2025, including with respect to adjusted EBITDA, cash balance and net debt, the Company's ability to fund operations through fiscal year 2027, the Company's portfolio value potential, including the near-term development potential, long-term development potential and agricultural land value, the development of the Corkscrew Grove Villages, the future use and estimated value of the Company's land holdings, the Company's expected future profitable growth, expectations regarding land sales and cash from the 2024/2025 harvest, expectations for future working capital requirements, plans to pursue commercial and residential development, plans to develop land for its highest and best use and any other statements relating to our future activities or other future events or conditions. These statements are based on our current expectations, estimates and projections about our business based, in part, on assumptions made by our management and can be identified by terms such as "if," "will," "should," "expects," "plans," "hopes," "anticipates," "could," "intends," "targets," "projects," "contemplates," "believes," "estimates," "forecasts," "predicts," "potential" or "continue" or the negative of these terms or other similar expressions.

These forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance and involve risks, uncertainties and assumptions that are difficult to predict. Therefore, actual outcomes and results may differ materially from what is expressed or forecasted in the forward-looking statements due to numerous factors, including, but not limited to: our implementation of our planned strategic transformation; our plan to wind down our citrus production operations to focus on our long-term diversified land usage and real estate development strategy; our ability to secure necessary regulatory approvals and permits for land development projects, effectively manage and allocate resources to new business initiatives, attract and retain skilled personnel with expertise in diversified land usage and real estate development, navigate potential market fluctuations and economic conditions, maintain strong relationships with lenders and continue to satisfy covenants and conditions under current loan agreements and address potential environmental and zoning issues, and other challenges inherent in real estate development; our ability to increase our revenues from land usage and real estate development; adverse weather conditions, natural disasters and other natural conditions, including the effects of climate change and hurricanes and tropical storms; risks related to our expected significant revenue shift to real estate development and diversified farming operations; our ability to effectively perform grove management services. or to effectively manage our portfolio of groves; water use regulations restricting our access to water; changes in immigration laws; harm to our reputation; tax risks associated with a Section 1031 Exchange; risks associated with the undertaking of one or more significant corporate transactions; the seasonality of our citrus business; fluctuations in our earnings due to market supply and prices and demand for our products; climate change, or legal, regulatory, or market measures to address climate change; Environmental, Social and Governance issues, including those related to climate change and sustainability; increases in labor, personnel and benefits costs; increases in commodity or raw product costs, such as fuel and chemical costs; transportation risks; any change or the classification or valuation methods employed by county property appraisers related to our real estate taxes; liability for the use of fertilizers, pesticides, herbicides and other potentially hazardous substances; compliance with applicable environmental laws; loss of key employees; material weaknesses and other control deficiencies relating to our internal control over financial reporting; macroeconomic conditions, such as rising inflation, changes in trade policies and the imposition of tariffs, and the deadly conflicts in Ukraine and Israel; system security risks, data protection breaches, cybersecurity incidents and systems integration issues; our indebtedness and ability to generate sufficient cash flow to service our debt obligations; higher interest expenses as a result of variable rates of interest for our debt; our ability to continue to pay cash dividends; and certain of the other factors described under the sections "Risk Factors" and "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" included in our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the fiscal quarter ended June 30, 2025 filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") on August 12, 2025. Except as required by law, we do not undertake an obligation to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statement, whether as a result of new information, future developments, or otherwise.

Who We Are

Alico is a Florida-based agribusiness and land management company with over 125 years of experience.

Alico's enduring conservation legacy protects vital natural resources while remaining deeply rooted in the communities we serve.

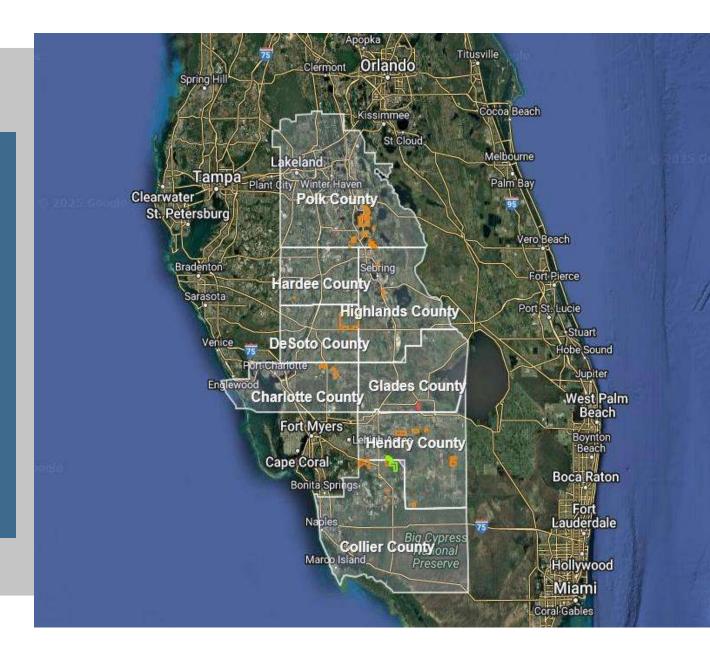

Alico is evolving its agriculture portfolio, transitioning from traditional citrus operations to positioning ~25% of its land holdings for strategic development opportunities, balancing near-term and long-term growth potential, while ~75% of its land holdings remain for diversified agricultural ventures.

Alico seeks to provide investors with the benefits and stability of a conventional agriculture investment with the optionality that comes with active land management.

The idea is to develop the site an surrounding properties in an environmentall sensitive manner.

The second chainenge is the goal of academic sexellence, and establishing funding for academic chairs, Griffin said. Alico's initial gift of 1.2 million to the foundation was matched will 1800,000 in state funds. That would fund seven the academic chairs, he said.

"We would like to call this the Alico challeege," Griffin said. It's also the foundation's goal to challenge individuals in Southwest Florida to slep forward and dedicate the dollars needed to make the university an academic success. Those dollars can often be matched, at least in part, by state funds.

The 215 acres of land given by Alico was symbolized Monday by a marbie plaque the Griffin gave to Edwards and McTarnaghan. The current value of the land is about $15,000 per acre, or about $3.2 million, Edwards said.

The 115 acres currently brings in $30,000 pc; year from a lease to Pacific Tomato Growen liater has the potential of providing $2 million through a mining lease with Florida Rock. "Plan for Every Acre" with an emphasis on prioritizing efforts on properties where maximum value creation can be realized

An ongoing process.

Continuing to evaluate properties to determine what will create the HBU for shareholders. Instrumental in that process is evaluating all opportunities where Alico can leverage conservation programs to simultaneously create value and enhance environmental outcomes.

Pursuing land use and zoning approvals for selected properties where the market indicates there is growing demand for well planned projects.

Planning efforts include engagement with agencies and stakeholders to ensure that Alico considers and incorporates feedback to improve designs and better integrate with surroundings while ensuring that community infrastructure will be available to support the project.
