Vuzix to Participate in the First Qualcomm Smart Cities Accelerate Event

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Sept. 17, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- Vuzix® Corporation (NASDAQ: VUZI), ("Vuzix" or, the "Company"), a leading supplier of Smart Glasses and Augmented Reality (AR) technology and products, today is announcing that the Company has been invited by Qualcomm® to participate in the first Qualcomm Smart Cities Accelerate event taking place in San Diego, CA on September 17-18.

The two-day event will bring together city leaders from various cities around the USA; key officials from various departments such as transportation, education, public safety and security; and technology solution providers to discuss the latest technological advancements and deployments in a variety of smart city projects. The event will also connect ODMs, OEMs and ISVs that are using Qualcomm silicon, as well as module partners, wireless carriers and other ecosystem partners.

"Vuzix is honored to be participating in Qualcomm's first Smart Cities Accelerate event," said Paul Travers, President and Chief Executive Officer at Vuzix. "Vuzix Smart Glasses are designed to bring digital connect and information into the real world to drive on the job efficiencies and improve safety for connected workers and smart cities alike. Smart cities is an emerging market vertical that showcases not only the value proposition of Vuzix' wearable technology, but also its growth potential, especially around public safety and security."

Vuzix will be showcasing the Vuzix M400 Smart Glasses powered by the Qualcomm®

Snapdragon™ XR1 Platform during the Qualcomm Smart Cities Accelerate event.
