

Overview

In an ever-changing world, Cleartronic, Inc. looks for change -- and the business opportunities that change creates. Expanding its business footprint, Cleartronic is developing new product and service applications that address consumer and enterprise-wide markets. We are leveraging core competencies already being commercially exploited in unified communications -- while simultaneously developing or acquiring new technologies. In addition to unified communications applications already being commercially embraced, Cleartronic's R&D efforts are exploring opportunities in machine-to-machine, "smart grid", and cloud communications applications, among others.
